

A Summer drink must be cooling. It must be delicious too, but the crowning success of Boum-vita as an ideal Summer drink is its energizing quality. Boum-vita is more necessary in the Summer than ever. The acid stimulation on your strength which the hot weather brings makes such a vitalizing drink as this more welcome than ever.

For Good Looks

Molly Lamont, brunette actress currently in RKO Radio's "Mary of Scotland," finds that, for evening wear, her beauty is heightened by the judicious use of violet eye shadow in which are flecks of gold.

Margaret Callahan, RKO Radio player appearing in "The Last Outlaw," declares that most women are too casual about the use of facial cream as a beauty aid. A woman should not stop with creaming her face, but should also give the same treatment to her neck, arms and shoulders—not forgetting her legs if she expects to wear shorts for summer sports.

Although used less, camomile is an excellent alternative to the usual lemon rinse for blonde hair, suggests young Betty Grable, RKO Radio Pictures player.

To wear the popular greys of this season, counsels Ginger Rogers, dancing and singing star, remember that sallow or yellow skin tones must be corrected by proper make-up. A lively lipstick with rosy tones will, when used, enable practically every woman to wear grey.

SUMMER

ARRANGE YOUR CURLS AND WAVES

BEFORE YOU GO BATHING

A few minutes spent on arranging curls and waves before bathing will amply repay the girl on holiday who is and who wants to be as careful of her appearance in the evening as she is in the day time.

A watertight bathing cap is most important. If you have not got a pretty one that fits perfectly, try wearing a plain tight helmet with a coloured silk handkerchief tied over it and knotted in front. It will look attractive and keep your hair quite dry.

You will need a good spirit setting lotion, a bottle of Brilliantine, an invisible net, and some pins or clips.

When you are ready for your swim, comb your hair carefully into the exact shape and style desired. Spray with a little setting lotion, put a few clips or pins between the waves the hairdresser gave you and press firmly into place with your fingers.

Use a few extra pins to keep the hair close to the scalp, now roll each curl round your finger and secure with a pin on either side.

When all the ends are in place, put on the invisible net, and pin it securely round the forehead and nape of the neck. Pull on the bathing cap very carefully over the net.

After bathing, remove the cap as soon as possible, but don't comb the hair immediately, as the heat from your head may cause a certain amount of dampness, even if your cap is quite waterproof. Stay in the open air for half an hour.

Remove the net and pins, and you may then use the comb with safety, but first pour a few drops of Brilliantine into the palms of your hands and smooth and pat the waves into place.

Your reward will be a perfectly groomed head for the evening.

TUNICS AGAIN TO FORE

Tunics for day and evening have been with us all the year more or less, but indications at the moment are that this style of garment is not in any way waning in favour. It is becoming more fashionable—and assuming more variety in line and general treatment.

Well-chosen tunics can be very becoming to some figures. The latest silk-ribbed or shaded satin tunic-suits look charming, cut straight, short and slim, and finished with jabots or bows to contrast.

With the tunic a cape or cape-coat of three-quarter length, can look well if the hat worn has sufficient brim to 'balance.' One afternoon tunic was in black faille with high collar and vest of white lacquered satin. Over the tunic for street wear was a long pleated coat of faille, collared with white fox and lined with white satin.

FASHIONS IN BRIDAL FLOWERS

Fashions in bridal flowers are being tried out during July's brilliant "Little Season" in readiness for autumn weddings.

The day of the austere sheaf is over. Fluffy bouquets are returning with more decorative fashions, according to Mr. Edward Goodyear, the Court florist.

The medieval sheaf is being launched by one bride. It rests on the arm in sheaf fashion, with the top bending over the elbow, but falls over the forearm like a shower bouquet.

THE TRUE NOSEGAY

The double shower in which the flowers spray out on either side is another bridal bouquet fashion to go with the quantities of net and tulle used in the season's wedding gowns.

The Victorian-posy is going out at last. The true nosegay has taken its place as the bridesmaid's bouquet.

The nosegay is small and the blooms are arranged closely like a garden or field gathered bunch of flowers. The method of arranging the posy is different. In order to get the stiff circular effect, flowers are often divided in halves or even quarters.

JEWELLERY FASCINATES

Background To Make-Up

The new jewellery, with its superb colourings and settings, fascinates modern women, who are making-up and even dressing to provide a background for beautiful ornaments.

When jewellery is so importantly mounted, whether in real, synthetic, or semi-precious stones, as it is to-day, the selection of suitable facial make-up for jewel colourings becomes more complicated.

Complexion, hair, eyes and the frock must all harmonise with jewels chosen.

Many women are matching up their finger-tips by choosing nail lacquer to match their lipstick in the same tone of rose-red, but are apt to overlook the beauty note that well-chosen jewellery can give to the eyes, hair and complexion.

Amber is kind to brown eyes, and also to the auburn-haired woman, darker brunettes, and to tanned summer skins. These stones accentuate all the natural golden lights in eyes and hair, and when a blue-eyed woman has red gold hair amber points the contrast with regard to the colour of eyes, while accentuating the hair-tints.

Violet jewels become the blue or grey-eyed woman, dark or fair. Blue eyes look lovelier and have greater depth of colour when pale violet amethysts are worn.

Women are becoming more violet conscious so far as dress colours are concerned, and this beautiful colour is seen in many becoming hues in dress fabrics. The paler mauves suit pastel-toned complexions, and are a pleasant variation in ringing changes on shades of blue which are worn so constantly by fair-haired, blue-eyed women. Another reason why the mauves are coming into favour is that any tendency to sallowness of complexion can be countered easily by a clever use of the right tones of face powder and cosmetics.

This also applies to jewels, and when the delicately tinted mauve or violet tourmalines, dark or light amethysts, and some sapphires which have a purple tinge are worn, complexion foundation, cream and powder should be slightly rose-tinted, or chosen in a little warmer tone.

"Jewel" women are distinctly of the fair-haired, blue, grey, or green-eyed type. There are so many different jewels that become them, and can be used to enhance their beauty of colouring.

The brown-eyed woman is more restricted where her special jewel colours are in question. Perhaps that is why pearls are often chosen by brunettes. There is the yellow group of precious stones: amber, zircon, yellow tourmaline, oriental topaz, and flame coloured garnets. Jade, turquoise and fire opals, too, are becoming to dark women, by way of harmonious contrast, as well as to the fair.

POWDER TINTS FOR PEARLS

All jewels play their part in the ensemble still more attractively when there is a careful choice of make-up. Richly coloured stones will accent the magnolia skin with its creamy delicacy of colouring, or the pale golden tan which so many women are cultivating this summer, and gain an added beauty. Pearls can be chosen that will lighten or deepen the skin tones in effect, and powder tints that will give a greater radiance to pearls.

In view of the present vogue for deep jewelled bracelets and large rings, hands and wrists need almost the same treatment as the complexion. Actresses found this out long ago. A beautiful ring makes every gesture of the hand noticeable. Unnecessary finger wrinkles can be eliminated and wrists made more shapely with the help of massage and beauty creams. Special hand lotions will keep the hands and wrists soft, firm and shapely, while a cream that gives a velvety matt finish and powder chosen to tone with the skin will bestow the finishing touch needed to enhance the beauty of the jewels.

THE IMPORTANCE OF COLOURS

New colours and colour alliances are more important in millinery than silhouettes, trimmings and fabrics at present. All the new spice shades, from warm ginger brown, cinnamon and nutmeg tones to brownish reds are lovely in the new felts. There is more vividness in sports and semi-sports hats than for many seasons.

Orange red, deep strawberry red and currant are prominent new shades; also "fire" tones. This deep strawberry red is good with navy, and currant red velvet is very successful. Molyneux is making lovely little off-the-face currant red velvet hats.

Agnes and Suzanne Talbot are showing a new blue velvet "Sapphire Glass" Patou is showing burgundy and yellow green as a colour alliance. Moss and leaf green, pumpkin and marigold yellow are Molyneux successes. Le-long uses brilliant grass green and intense sapphire, and Schiaparelli sponsors a mauve-ish grey and currant red.

Other last minute colour news here include delphinium blue and henna; russet and tobacco brown, and dead black and sapphire blue.

All Rules Off In Styles At Present, Says Newman

The woman who is not extremely fashion-conscious is going to have a hard time picking her summer clothes. "Anything goes" is the only fashion dictum for this summer, declares Bernard Newman, RKO Radio stylist, and the very fact that she is given such leeway will cover her with confusion unless she can pick out of the whole melee the styles which flatter her particular type.

"No one can say that the fashionable woman will be seen in any one certain silhouette, that one particular colour will be smarter than any other, or that the extremely tailored ensemble takes precedence over highly feminine ones. Such a fashion trend sounds simple, but frankly speaking it takes a discerning eye. It's every woman for herself. Anything which is smart and becoming is fashionable."

BETTER MILK FOR BABIES

"Lactogen is easily digested and assimilated" Says a Hospital Doctor

"After having tried several preparations of infant food I have found out that 'Lactogen' has given the best results so far for my own baby and those who have been using it under my direction and observation. 'Lactogen' is easily digested and assimilated by infants as well as readily prepared, not to mention its high food value. Unlike some artificial milk preparations it is non-constipating."

Babies do well when put on Lactogen. It agrees with them. Now Doctors and Nurses everywhere are telling Mothers "Baby will thrive if you put him on Lactogen." Lactogen is pure, fresh, full-cream modified dried milk with extra cream and natural milk sugar added, made in all important respects exactly like breast milk.

BRIGHT FLOWERS AND COLOURFUL ACCESSORIES

Frocks As Variegated As A Summer Bouquet

The latest collections of the French couturiers are characterized by a veritable riot of colour. Every colour of the rainbow, as well as countless shades that the most discerning eye could never discover in that radiant arch, are displayed in the models created for the summer season. One wonders if there can possibly be an inner reason for this. Can it be that the Parisian dressmakers "fed up" with difficult financial and political problems, have decided to "put up a bold front" and show the world that they are still undaunted by existing conditions? And how could they better express this attitude than by a great display of brilliant colours? Be that as it may, the fact remains that the present collections are the most colourful within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Old Victorian colours such as magenta, cherry and royal purple vie with the jade-green, maize and lacquer red of the present day; and as for combinations of colour these simply beggar description. Purple and cherry, grass-green and bright blue, orange and red colours that would seem impossible to combine—are used together most successfully in this year's summer costume. Even the all-back frock, of which there are always a great number in every collection, is given a festive touch by a bright sash or belt, a big nosegay of flowers or a hat and gloves in a brilliant colour.

Trimming and flowers seemed to them a relic of Victorian days. It remained for the dressmakers to put their shoulders to the wheel of fashion, with the result that at the present moment, flower-makers are working overtime and there is even a dearth of workers. And such flowers! Never before have artificial blossoms been so lovely. Gorgeous tulips, sprays of lilac, wisteria and mimosa, peonies, poppies, dahlias, gardenias, nasturtiums and waxlike calla lilies—these are a few of the varieties which are so perfect that it is almost impossible to realize that they are not the natural blooms. Flowers are worn not only on hats, on the bodices or tucked into the belts of day and evening gowns, but they have become the favourite decoration for the evening coiffure.

Wreaths of little rose-buds, forget-me-nots or pansies encircle the head, clusters of blossoms fall over the ears or lie flat at the sides of the head, a bunch of flowers is placed at the front, just over the forehead and nose. Chanel puts a flat plastron of little roses low at the back of the head.

LITTLE JACKETS

Another colourful accessory of the summer costume is the jacket of coloured linen, snugly fitted, single-breasted and flaring a bit below the waistline. While white pique and linen are still favourites for the summer jacket, those in a

LANE, CRAWFORD'S

Have just received a large and varied assortment of the latest perfumes by the famous Jean Patou, which should attract the younger set of Hong Kong. To finish the toilet, one should really ask for and use "Amour Amour" or "Adieu Sagesse," or better still for the cocktail hour, "Cocktail Bitter Sweet," which is gay, witty, and perhaps even a little naughty. Included in this assortment one will also find such names as Lavin, Worth, and Chanel, which no one could afford to miss.

MAIZEE'S

The home of Helena Rubenstein's products have just secured through the last mail something new in a night cream. The very latest effort of this famous house is packed in a very attractive looking jar bearing the name "Novena" night cream, and from people who are in the know, this product seems to be the very thing.

MAYO'S

For those who are interested in having their old hats done up for the autumn, there is only one place to place such work and that is MAYO'S, who undertake such work that will suit the most fastidious.

GORDON'S

"The house of aristocratic footwear" are now showing a new and wide range of the famous "K" shoes, which should be worthy of an early inspection.

Jacket of magenta linen worn with a black skirt with bands of turquoise blue at the sides and a turquoise blue blouse. Yellow is a favourite colour for this type of jacket and worn with a brown or black skirt and hat it makes an attractive summer costume. Navy blue is very much to the fore in these summer collections and this, like black, makes an excellent background for all sorts of bright accessories.

Cotton, linen and pique in printed designs are extremely popular for summer evening and late-afternoon costumes. The frock is simple in line with skirt just escaping the floor and a sleeveless bodice which may reach to the throat at the front or be cut in a square or rounded line and with a deep U or oblong opening at the back. The erstwhile popular "bathing-suit" back, devoid of covering, is very much on the wane and another season, let us hope, will see its demise. A plain, fitted jacket of the same material, usually with long plain or leg-o-mutton sleeves goes with the frock, making a charming ensemble suitable for almost any occasion. O, and one must not forget the bright bouquet of organdie or linen flowers which adorns the bodice or the belt.

Printed materials continue to be made in amusing designs. Some of the latest novelties include a black crepe de Chine with radio sets and little lightning-like lines of white flashing over its surface. Another design is composed of French sous (the coin with a hole in the middle), and another has a geometrical arrangement of registered letters with their brightly coloured stamps. A "Queen Mary" print in black and white has narrow horizontal stripes made up of rows of little steamships, the nautical idea, further carried out by a white steering wheel, which forms the buckle of the black patent leather belt worn with the frock. Small designs in printed silk crepes and satins are used for daytime costumes but large, bright-coloured patterns in chiffons and organzas are the vogue for the evening. Plain materials, organza, organdie, tulle, chiffon and georgette are close rivals to these printed materials for this summer's evening gown.

DINING AT HOME

Mainbocher is the originator of a new costume which is meeting with great success. It is a glorified hostess gown which he calls "Dining at Home." It consists of a long coat of printed chiffon in a

THEY TELL YOU HOW

Summer silks should be washed in lukewarm water, the excess moisture absorbed in a turkish towel, and dried in the shade, says Jean Arthur, co-starring with William Powell in RKO Radio's "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford."

Flowers will keep longer if cut in the bud, but be careful the buds are not too young or they will fall to open, says Ann Harding, star of the RKO Radio Picture, "The Witness Chair."

Betty Grable adds a little finely chopped pineapple or other fruit to chicken salad to make it an entirely new dish.

big, gay floral design, tight in the bodice and very full in the skirt with long sleeves and opening down the front over a full skirt of plain crepe de Chine. One particularly attractive model in a flowered chiffon with bright blue background, has three full ruffles on the skirt and the slip underneath is of plain blue crepe.

Tunics are everywhere, made in every possible material, tightly fitted as to the bodice and very full below the waistline. Maggie Rouff, always partial to this type of garment, makes them of satin, lame and pique and puts all the fullness at the front and sides, leaving the back perfectly flat with a row of tiny buttons covered with the material extending from neck to hem. One in white "blistered" pique is worn with a skirt of navy blue crepe de Chine, another in printed taffeta, black with big pink and blue flowers, is worn with a plain, tight, black tulle skirt and another in white satin with a narrow row of black "butterfly" sleeves goes with a black satin skirt. Sometimes the evening jacket takes the form of a tunic, as, for example, a costume by Paquin has a long tunic of navy and white striped taffeta, very full at the front, worn over an evening gown of navy blue crepe de Chine. A white tunic in the same collection has horizontal striped bands of brown, grey and black and is worn with a summer evening frock of white linen. A "dressy" all black costume, also by Paquin, has a tunic of black crepe satin edged with monkey fur and worn over a graceful evening gown of black and white striped tulle.

FLOWERS EVERYWHERE

The return of the vogue for artificial flowers adds another bright note to the summer costume. For several years, the milliners have striven to bring back the flower-trimmed hat, hoping in this way to provide work for the thousands of women, who were thrown out of employment when artificial flowers went out of fashion. This was a difficult task for women had become used to hats with little or no colour—pink, green, yellow, blue or violet, are a bit newer. Marcel Rochas, one of the "moderns" of the dressmaking profession, is showing many number of these little costs in the most brilliant hues, worn, for the most part, with dark frocks or skirts which have a band of colour (in the majority of the models of the colour of the jacket) down the side, seams, like the stripes on a man's dress trousers. The most striking of these is a

NON-
INTERVENTION
PRINCIPLEGOVERNMENTS TO ACT
IN CONFORMITY

London, Aug. 5.
Press messages from Paris state that the French Government has instructed its Ambassador in Moscow and Minister in Lisbon to invite those Governments to associate themselves with the principle of non-intervention in the Spanish Civil war. The French Government informed, which yesterday sent a favourable reply to the French note on this subject, as to the results of its enquiries
in the other capitals.

The British reply which has been warmly welcomed in the press is known to have emphasised the anxiety which the British Government shares with the French as to the consequences which might ensue from the support of any of parties to the Spanish conflict by outside powers.

While the British Government would undoubtedly welcome an agreement to obviate these risks, it is likely they will have pointed out the necessity if it is to ensure that the result of that agreement should be simultaneously accepted by all the powers concerned.

There would be no objection however, in the British view to the declaration by the powers most immediately interested, that they would prevent the supply from their territories of arms and munitions of war to Spain in advance of the general agreement to the same effect. The British Government itself has been acting all along in conformity with the principle of non-intervention and therefore it would certainly be ready to join in making such a declaration if and as soon as the other Governments are prepared to do so.

The golfing novice prepared for his shot with the usual elaboration. He addressed the ball, swung with his club, brought it down smack upon the turf. The ball traveled three yards; the turf traveled 10. In no way dismayed, he strode forward and picked up the piece of turf he had displaced. This was as it should be. But everyone gasped when he put it in his pocket.

"You mustn't do that, sir!" cried the caddy. "You must replace the turf!"

"Nonsense!" replied the novice. "There's plenty left. I'm going to send this to a friend who wants to know what the course is like."

"SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE"

AT THE ORIENTAL THEATRE

Writing a novel in twenty-four hours seems an impossible task, although the late Edgar Wallace, British thriller-author, is said to have done it on more than one occasion.

In the new RKO Radio feature, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," Gene Raymond makes a bet that he can accomplish the one-day feat, and goes to a deserted mountain resort in the dead of winter to write.

But the arrival one after another, of a diversified group of characters interested in the recovery of valuable jewels interrupts his programme and furnishes the plot of an unusually thrilling and hilarious screen offering.

Margaret Callahan has the feminine lead with the blond Raymond, and Erin O'Brien-Moore, Eric Blare, Moroni Olsen, Grant Mitchell and Ray Mayer and other noted players are in the cast.

"SONG AND DANCE MAN"

Embellished with new songs, laughs and pathos, "Song and Dance Man," the Fox picture of backstage life, opens at the King's Theatre to-day to the complete enjoyment of the attending audience.

Based on the original play by George M. Cohan, the screen play tells an absorbing story of backstage life with the utmost sincerity. The plot concerns a team of vaudeville artists. The man is a ham-and-egg hooter who honestly believes himself better than Astaire. The girl remains faithful to the partnership because of loyalty to the man who helped her when she was down and out.

Finally the girl gets a break through the interest of a wealthy playboy. The hooter finally realizes that he is in the way, puts on a phony drunk and splits up the partnership.

During the rehearsal of the show in which the girl has been placed by the wealthy playboy, the jealousy of the dance director's chances. However, the hooter returns just in time to reveal the dance director's underhand work and takes over the direction of the show himself.

The show is a hit and the hooter does another final fade-out so the girl can have the right man.

The story has been constructed cleverly and there is careful attention to detail. Allan Dwan's excellent direction keeps the picture moving at a good pace.

Paul Kelly, in the title role, delivers a grand performance. Claire Trevor has never been better; her acting is splendid throughout. Michael Whalen as the romantic playboy turns in a commendable performance. Others in the cast whose performances deserve high praise are Ruth Donnelly, Jame Burke and Lester Matthews.

POPULAR MANAGER

MR. GOLDING OF STAR THEATRE

Relinquishes Duties

The many patrons of the Star Theatre, at Kowloon, will learn with regret that Mr. Golding, the courteous manager, will be relinquishing his duties there at the end of the month.

Mr. Golding arrived in the Colony during December, 1929, when he joined the Hong Kong Amusements, Ltd., and was appointed the manager of the Star Theatre.

At the liquidation of the firm, Lee Yui Kee bought them out and retained the services of Mr. Golding in the capacity of manager of the Star Theatre.

With great keenness and foresight Mr. Golding, in September, 1935, was responsible for the booking of all the Warner Brothers, Paramount and most of the United Artists' pictures for the theatre. He was also responsible this summer for rescreening the "old favourites" which patrons will be able to view in the coming weeks.

Theatre fans owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Golding for the bringing back of these "old favourites," which were enjoyed tremendously in the past, and which definitely put the Star Theatre in the enviable position which it holds to-day.

I FOUND STELLA PARISH

Paul Lukas, capable motion picture actor who plays one of the featured roles opposite Kay Francis in the new First National picture, "I Found Stella Parish," which comes to the Star Theatre to-day, is indebted to Max Reinhardt for his screen debut.

The celebrated director of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" saw Lukas in a Moller play in Budapest and invited him to appear as a guest artist in Berlin. This led to his first screen appearance. He played the role of Samson in "Samson and Delilah."

That was in 1927, long before Reinhardt had decided to devote his talents to the screen. The following year Lukas was playing the title role in "Antonio" at Budapest when he received an offer to come to Hollywood for a role in Pola Negri's "Loves of an Actress."

He has remained in Hollywood since and is to-day considered one of the ablest actors in motion pictures.

Lukas has the role of a theatrical producer in "I Found Stella Parish," a powerful drama of a beautiful and talented stage beauty who is trying to conceal her secret past. Kay Francis has the stellar role, while others in the cast include Ian Hunter, Sybil Jason, Barton MacLane, Jessie Ralph and Eddie Acuff.

KING'S VISIT TO SANDRINGHAM

Surprise For Public

London, Aug. 6.

Eight thousand sightseers, at Sandringham House had a surprise yesterday. Unknown to them the King had flown to Sandringham to pay a visit to his mother prior to leaving on his holiday abroad, and during the afternoon both of them walked round the Gardens together, receiving hearty greetings from holiday makers, with several of whom they spoke. It is unusual for members of the Royal Family to use Sandringham Gardens on days the public are admitted.

POISON GAS

A B.M.A. Warning

MEASURES "CAN BE ONLY VERY IMPERFECT"

London, July 17.

A warning of the perils of this country in relation to chemical warfare was given at the British Medical Association meeting at Oxford to-day.

A resolution called for the co-operation of the medical professions of all countries to prohibit the manufacture of poison gas.

The resolution expressed the opinion "that any protective measures for the general population against chemical warfare can be only very imperfect and inadequate."

And Dr. A. T. Jones, South Wales, in moving the resolution, quoted the Prime Minister as having said that there was no known defence against air raids and their dire consequences.

"Can we visualise," he asked "what any effective measure to meet this possible dire situation would mean—45 million people wearing gas masks, for each new born baby and infant in arms would have to be so supplied?"

"UP TO THE SCIENTISTS"

"Someone said the other day that the devil was having a good laugh at the political leaders of the world."

"I am sure if we can think of such a picture as is necessary for effectively meeting any possible calamity, such as chemical warfare we will realise that."

"We know what it would be in physical mental suffering if we had to meet a situation of any attack upon this country."

"We may say that politicians are failing; if they have not already done so, and it is up to the scientists of the world to take the question up and to say courageously that this sort of thing shall not be done."

"UTTERLY INADEQUATE"

Dr. W. G. Whloughby, Eastbourne, said that even if the utmost resources of London were used not more than one-fifth of the whole population could be adequately protected.

He added: "As medical officer of health of a district I have had to arrange for the precautions in that district, and it is perfectly true that whatever we can do is going to be utterly inadequate."

THREE EXTRA FLOTILLAS FOR MEDITERRANEAN

Increase To Be Permanent

(BY HECTOR C. BYWATER)

London, July 18.

I am now permitted to disclose that the Government's decision permanently to reinforce our Fleet in the Mediterranean is already being carried into effect.

Despite the recall of Home Fleet units and ships from other stations which were temporarily attached to the Mediterranean command during the recent crisis, the Mediterranean Fleet to-day is considerably stronger than it has been for years past.

Since last month it has been augmented by a complete destroyer flotilla—the 20th—an anti-submarine flotilla, and a second mine-sweeping flotilla, with a total of 29 vessels.

The new destroyer flotilla includes eight new and powerful destroyers of the "G" class, completed only a few months ago, with the Douglas as their leader.

In the anti-submarine flotilla, the first of its kind to be permanently attached to the Mediterranean Fleet, are 10 of the big new trawlers purchased by the Admiralty under a recent supplementary estimate.

LATEST DEVICES

These craft are equipped with the latest scientific devices for detecting and combating submerged submarines. Their officers have undergone special training in this work at the anti-submarine school in Portland.

As now reorganised the Mediterranean Fleet, under the command of Admiral Sir A. Dudley Pound, contains the following vessels:

3 Queen Elizabeth battleships, Battle Cruiser Repulse—soon to be joined by the Hood.
4 8in heavy cruisers.
5 6in light cruisers.
2 special anti-aircraft cruisers—each mounting a very heavy battery of A.A. guns. Aircraft-carrier Glorious, with over 50 planes.

38 destroyers.

8 of the latest submarines, including three submersible cruisers of 22 knots.

10 anti-submarine craft.

19 minesweepers.

6 sloops, and various auxiliary ships.

The grand total of vessels is well over 100.

FIRST STEP

This, however, is only the first step in the process of reinforcing the Mediterranean Fleet. It is understood that a large proportion of the new naval construction now in hand is earmarked for the same station.

It may also be recalled that vessels building and authorised include two battleships, 18 cruisers, three aircraft carriers, 16 super-destroyers of 1,850 tons, 27 other destroyers, and 17 submarines.

It is officially announced that the defences of Malta, already vastly improved since last August, are to be strengthened to the utmost degree possible. This base is already submarine-proof, and when the new scheme is completed the island should be in a position not merely to repel heavy air attack, but to deliver formidable counterblows.

Should the projected treaty with Egypt come into effect, Alexandria will, it is understood, become an important subsidiary base for the Mediterranean Fleet, possessing its own defences and local flotillas.

Its position, flanking the Suez Canal approaches, endows this base with unique strategic value.

No decision has been reached as yet concerning the naval development of Cyprus.

The plans now being put into execution leave no doubt of Britain's resolve to re-establish her position in the Mediterranean on an impregnable basis.

The military lines of communication between Gibraltar and Suez are to be defended at all costs.

BOTTLE OF POISON

Arrested in possession of a bottle of Potassium Cyanide, Wong Hong, 24, unemployed, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when he stated that he was taking the bottle to a man named Wong Ngau who lived at 8, Pitkem Street, ground floor. Det-Sub-Inspr. Cunningham, for the police, applied for 48 hours remand in custody as the contents of the bottle had to be examined. "I know the man the defendant is referring to," he added. Defendant was remanded.

ATTEMPTED FREE JOURNEY

An unemployed, Chan Ngau, 23, was in a hurry to get over to Hong Kong. But he had no money. So he asked one of the folks at the Shamshui ferry wharf if he could travel free. When told he could not, Chan promptly climbed over the barrier. He was taken into custody and charged at the Shamshui Police Station with attempting to travel without paying fare and climbing over the barrier. Chan pleaded before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday that he had no money at all. On the first charge he was bound over and on the charge of climbing the barrier was fined $3 or ten days' hard labour in default. Sgt. J. R. Bentley stated the defendant did not actually go on the ferry.

LOADED REVOLVER

Tung Kau, 24, earth cooler, who was arrested on information in the Kum Lung Teahouse, 460, Prince Edward Road, with a revolver loaded in four chambers in his possession, was fined $250 with the alternative of eight months' hard labour by Mr. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. Det-Sgt. D. G. MacPherson said he had been instructed to ask his Worship to take a serious view as the defendant had intended to sell the weapon. Imposing the fine, his Worship remarked that people who walked round with guns in the Colony represented a very undesirable element which they wanted to get rid of. The arms were confiscated.

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN

Number thirteen proved to be unlucky for Luk Yu, 24. After when he chose to drive public car No. 13 without a licence in Tai Nam Street near Cedar Street. He drove in an erratic manner and the driver of the car, P.C.R. Macvey, of Shamshui Police Station, who was on patrol. The driver had been testing the car in the absence of the driver and owner of the vehicle. At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, Mr. Macfadyen imposed a fine of $5 or ten days' imprisonment. Defendant stated his salary was $3 with food.

BANISHEES RETURN

Chung Sam, banished last month for ten years, lost no time in returning but he soon found himself in the clutches of the law. Brought before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, Chung was sent to prison for six months. Det-Sgt. Davies, of the Water Police, prosecuted. Wong Ming, another returned banishee, was similarly sentenced. Sub-Inspr. H. E. Rogers, of Mongkok, prosecuted.

BRANCHES RIPPED

While Sgt. J. R. Bentley was on patrol along the Tai Po Road, he saw a Chinese up a 14-foot tree breaking branches. He caught the man and took him to Shamshui Police Station. The arrested man, Lau Tim, 31, unemployed, came before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday when he was fined $5 or in default, 14 days' hard labour.

LEGHORNS STOLEN

Mr. A. A. Lopes, of No. 222, Prince Edward Road, was the complainant before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when Li Tung, 45, unemployed, was charged with the theft of two Leghorn chickens and the possession of a picklock.

Det-Sub-Inspr. R. Cunningham stated that about ten days ago Mr. Lopes lost 18 Leghorn chickens and a cockerel. Defendant was arrested on Wednesday with two Leghorns in his possession also a picklock which exactly fitted the lock that was on the hen-run at the time of the larceny. Defendant was remanded 24 hours to find his box.

CARNAL KNOWLEDGE

Remanded from Wednesday, Fong Su, 25, charged with having carnal knowledge of a girl, Tam Tin, aged 14 years, at 215, Laichikok Road, first floor, between June 27 and July 22, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday and was sentenced to three months' hard labour. "These girls must be protected," commented his Worship. "Even if she did consent she was obviously too young to know and you were old enough to know." The prosecution had previously stated that it was not suggested that defendant had taken the girl's virginity.

GAMING HOUSE

Chan Yung, 37, was charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday with (a) keeping a common gaming house at No. 25 Graham Street, 2nd Floor, for the purpose of Po Pul, and (b) possession of 149 Po Pul Tickets.

Det-Sgt. T. Cashman was in charge of the prosecution. The defendant pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to a fine of $25 or three weeks on each charge.

ROBBED HIS FRIEND

Charged with the larceny of one wrist watch and $2 from Au Yeung 'Pat', 18, an ice-cream hawker, at No. 7, Wah Ling Lane, Luk Tat Chi, 22, unemployed, appeared before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday, and was bound over.

It was stated that the defendant went to live with the complainant on July 31 and at 11 a.m. on August 3 complainant went out and left his watch and $2 on his table in his cubicle. When he returned at 12.30 he found the articles missing. The defendant was recognised by the complainant on Tuesday night and he accosted him and asked him about the articles. The defendant admitted stealing the articles and gave the complainant a pawn ticket.

Nothing had been recovered and the value of the articles was $12. Defendant was bound over in $100 for one year and ordered to repay the complainant the sum of $2.

PRISON AS CURE

Leung Yu, 17, who together with Tang Yu, 35, was charged on four counts of larceny in Lyndhurst Terrace on Tuesday, appeared on remand before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday and was sentenced.

Det-Sgt. Riddell stated that inquiries had been made about the defendant and an uncle and elder brother had been found. The defendant was a confirmed opium smoker, and had been so since the age of 14. The uncle and brother would like the defendant to go to prison to try to cure him of the habit.

Defendant was sentenced to a total of four months, and to pay a sum of $5 amend or seven days to the complainant on the fourth charge.

ANOTHER'S CHEQUE

Ho Yiu, charged with larceny by finding a cheque and trying to cash the same at the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, appeared on remand before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday and was bound over. It will be recalled that the cheque was lost by the drawer and payment was stopped. The defendant presented the cheque and was arrested.

Yesterday defendant said that he was passing the Queen's Theatre and found the cheque. He stated that he was out of work and did not know that it was against the law to try and cash it.

RETURNED BANISHEE

Leung Shing, 35, a banishee who was banished for 10 years on October 10, 1935, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield charged with returning before the expiration of his sentence. The case was taken for committal.

Kwong Lee, the detective who effected his arrest, said that on July 25, in response to police whistles he went to No. 1, Han Fung Lane and there arrested the defendant who was caught breaking into a house.

Sergeant Mackay produced the defendant's record which included 12 previous convictions. Defendant was committed.

BATTERIES AND LABELS

Alleged Misuse Of Trade Marks

The proceedings against the Sunlight Co. and the Paul Battery Co., were continued before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday. These two companies were summoned for the possession of batteries and labels to which trade marks, so nearly resembling that of "Ever-ready batteries" had been applied so as to be calculated to deceive.

The summons originally referred to two marks, namely Trade Mark No. 7 of 1930. At the previous hearing Mr. Schofield discharged the defendants on the second summons.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon, instructed by Mr. D. L. Strellett, appeared for the defendants. Mr. Hugh Jones appeared for the prosecution. Mr. Waters, representative of the plaintiff firm was in Court.

Mr. Waters was recalled yesterday for further cross-examination by Mr. Sheldon. He stated that from his own knowledge the 1928 mark had not been used since 1930. Mr. Sheldon produced some American magazines which had in them advertisements of Ever-ready batteries. Witness said that he had not seen the 1928 mark in the American magazines for the past six or seven years. It was thus possible that the lawyer in America who had written to Mr. Waters had been referring to the 1930 mark.

Mr. Sheldon then said that he did not wish to make another submission but asked His Worship if a defence was required since there had been no evidence to show that the 1928 mark had been used in the past seven years.

Mr. Schofield remarked that as long as the Mark had been registered it did not matter whether it had been used before or not.

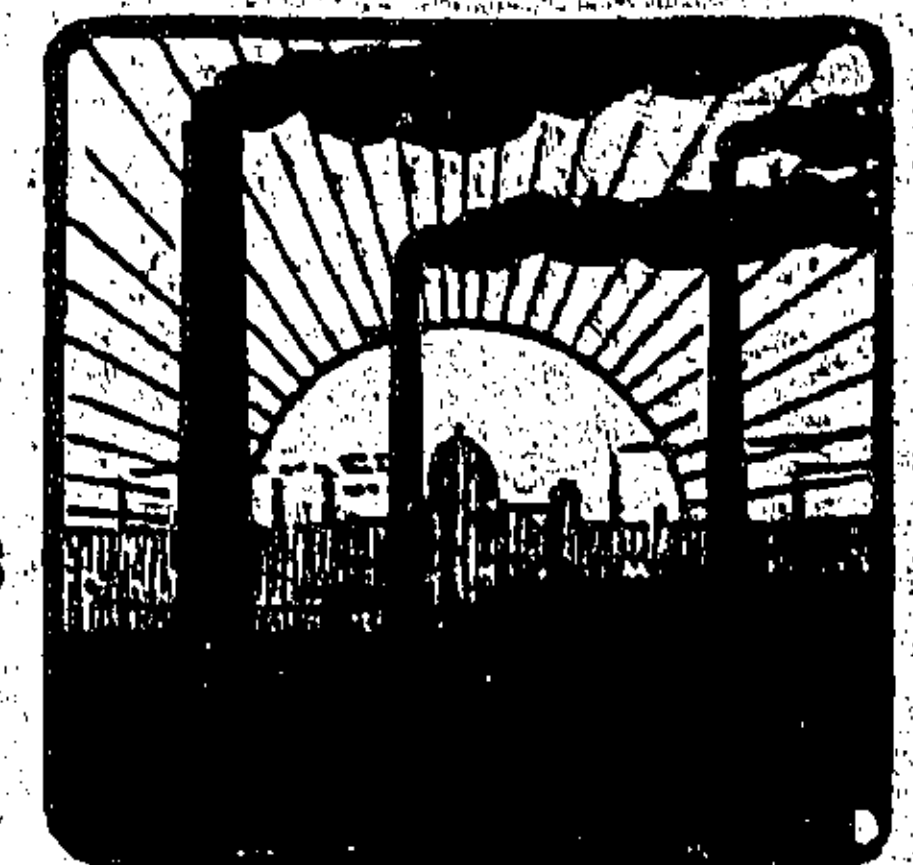

Mr. Sheldon asked if His Worship would be prepared to deliver judgment on that and went on to suggest a short adjournment while he consulted his clients with a view to saving the time of the Court.

After a short adjournment Mr. Sheldon said that he was calling evidence and Wong Wah Yan, buyer and salesman of the Sunlight Co., in Canton, went into the witness box and said that he had been associated with the selling of electrical goods since 1915. The Sunlight Co. in Canton sold both Paul Batteries and Ever-ready. With regard to the latter, their Mark No. 7 of 1930 had been sold for the past six years. Their No. 211 Mark of 1928 had last been seen in Canton about seven years ago.

After cross-examination by Mr. Hugh Jones, the case was adjourned until to-day.

HUNGHUM MURDER CASE HEARING

Allegations Made By Accused

FAMILY ESTATE QUESTIONS

Accusations that their eldest brother had always threatened to kill them, were made by two brothers, Yung Shing, blacksmith, and Yung Ming, vegetable hawker, charged with the murder of Ip Kiu, 49, gardener, when the trial was continued before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, together with Detective Inspector Eiston, conducted the prosecution. The deceased met his death in a fight in a hut on the hillside at Hau Pui Loong, Hungnam, on the night of July 18.

Dr. R. S. Begbie, Assistant Government Bacteriologist, deposed that he examined a vegetable knife, a pole and three jackets and found traces of human blood on all.

Yung Wing, aged 44, market stall holder, and eldest brother of the accused, told the Court that he lived in Hau Pui Loong village but not in the same hut as his brothers. Before the crime, witness had no dealings with them but was on neighbourly terms with the Ip family. There was no trouble in witness's family about the division of the family estate. There was no Hong Kong property to divide but their property in the country had been divided long ago by their mother and the money was divided among them all.

QUARREL HEARD

Coming to the evening of July 18, witness stated that he returned home to his married. After a while he had his evening meal inside the hut with his wife and two folks. Witness heard a quarrel outside and shouts of "save life" coming from a hut further up. It was hut No. 3. He saw the deceased, Ip Kiu, outside the hut supported by his wife. The accused were inside the hut. Deceased's right arm was bleeding profusely.

Witness said to the accused, "It is only a trifle matter; you have cut somebody," and as he spoke the first accused brought his right hand forward with a knife and struck at witness. The latter put up his left arm to ward off the blow and received a cut on the back of his left hand.

Questioned by the accused, witness denied that he had gathered members of the Ip family to attack the accused. Witness also denied that he shouted to the deceased's wife that he would give $800 to $1,000 to kill the accused. Witness further denied that he was always threatening to kill the accused.

Witness added that the family property in the country had been mortgaged for $1,000 Chinese currency and with that money they had purchased several houses in Hong Kong.

Yung Man Shing, bean sprout hawker, then gave evidence and after further testimony the hearing was adjourned to-day when the case will probably conclude.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Weekly Return

In the Colony of Hong Kong including the Island, Kowloon and the New Territories during the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, the 1st instant, there were altogether 49 traffic accidents, as the result of which 24 persons were injured.

Of the persons injured, 14 were pedestrians who were either walking or running across the road and were struck by vehicles.

Two tramcar passengers and a bus passenger were injured while alighting from moving tramcars and a moving motor bus respectively.

One motor cycle driver and a bicycle rider were injured through falling from their vehicles whilst in motion.

Three Chinese girls, playing on the footpath, were injured by a motor lorry mounting the pavement.

Three bicycle riders were injured as the result of collisions between vehicles.

Of the 49 accidents, 18 were collisions between vehicles, 19 were collisions between vehicles and pedestrians, and 12 accidents were due to other causes.

MORE SPURIOUS COINS

Woman Committed For Trial

With counterfeit coins concealed in a bamboo, on her person and even in her shoe, Tang Yuk, 52, a spinster, was arrested coming off the s.s. Tin Yat which had arrived in Hong Kong from Canton on July 25.

She appeared before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday charged with the possession of these coins which amounted to 304 ten-cent pieces, and 685 five-cent pieces. The case was taken for committal.

Inspector M. Murphy opening the case stated that the defendant was arrested immediately after the arrival of the s.s. Tin Yat from Canton. She was carrying a bamboo pole and two baskets. The detective who stopped her found that the pole was rather heavy and what was more suspicious was that the pole was stuffed at one end with a piece of cloth.

She was taken to the Central Police station where, while being examined, she snatched a piece of paper from the basket and tried to chew it. The paper contained an address in Yau-mat.

Coins were found on her person, in the bamboo pole and in her left shoe.

Defendant said that she had got them from a man on board who had asked her to take them ashore for him.

Evidence was then taken. The Chinese detective told of the arrest. He was followed by the female searcher who testified to the finding of some of the coins. Inspector Murphy then gave formal evidence which was followed by that of Lam Pui, a money changer, who testified to the falseness of the coins.

The defendant was committed to stand trial at the Sessions.

SHRINERS DUE

On The Pres. Grant

A party of 28 Shriners from the Nile Temple in Seattle, Washington, who are on their way to Manila, will arrive on the American Mail liner, "President Grant," which is expected to tie up at the Kowloon Dock at 11.00 a.m. today.

The Shrine Temples in different parts of America are the highest orders of Freemasonry, and many years of diligent study must be accomplished before a mason is initiated into a Shrine.

A ceremonial will be held when they are in Manila, and another one is to be held in Shanghai upon their return trip.

CHILDREN'S PLAYGROUND

It is understood that at a special meeting held at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, Connaught Road Central, yesterday afternoon, it was decided to petition the Government for a piece of land for the purpose of laying out a Children's Playground in memory of His Majesty, the late King George V, of which plans are being prepared.

Among those present at yesterday's meeting were the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso, Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo and several other prominent Chinese merchants.

840FT. WATERFALL NAMED AFTER THE KING

Discovery In British Guiana

London, July 24.

A waterfall recently discovered in the hinterland of British Guiana, in the Senang region, by the Potaro river, has been named, with the approval of His Majesty, "King Edward VIII."

The discovery was made by a member of a geological survey party. The fall is one of 840ft., with a width of 50ft., but the drop is not vertical.

Two other falls in British Guiana are, with the consent of the King, to be officially known as "King George V" and "King Edward VII." Pictures of the three falls are to be sent to the King by the Government of the Colony.

CORRESPONDENCE

A CORRECTION

(To the Editor of "The Hong Kong Daily Press")

Dear Sir,—We are instructed by Mr. Ho Chih Ting, who is better known by the name of Fok Chi Ting, to write to you with reference to an article appearing on page 7 of your issue of the 5th August under the heading, "Shum Chun must close." Our client informs us that at no time was he one of the operators of the gambling resort at Shum Chun and that, therefore, it was impossible for him to become indebted to the Kwangtung Provincial Treasury on that account in the sum of $7,000,000 as alleged, or at all.

Our client also informs us that it is not true that Mr. T. L. Soong has ordered him to pay the sum alleged to be in arrears; neither has he threatened to confiscate our client's property.

The article in the paper appears to be substantially the same as an article that appeared in the "South China Morning Post" on the 28th July under the heading "Auditing Accounts."

With regard to that article, we wrote to the "South China Morning Post" requesting them to publish a correction, and this was done in their issue of the 1st August.

We shall be obliged if you will also publish a correction of these mis-statements, which our client considers insulting and injurious.

Yours faithfully,

WILKINSON & GRIST.

Hong Kong, August 6, 1936.

(Ed.—We regret that the article should have given any offence, but it was copied verbatim from a message sent by the Kuo-Min News agency which we understand is an official organ of the Central Government at Nanking.)

LAI D TO REST

MR. STANLEY COBHAM

The funeral of the late Mr. Stanley Cobham, an American citizen, who died suddenly in the Government Civil Hospital at 2 a.m. on Wednesday at the age of 53 years, while he was on a tour of the world, took place at the Colonial Cemetery, yesterday afternoon, when Rev. N. V. Hayward, M. C., performed the burial service at the grave-side.

Those who were present at yesterday's funeral were only the Vice-Consul, Mr. Merritt N. Cootes of the American Consulate and a representative of the Repulse Bay Hotel.

Wreaths were sent by the American Consulate, the Repulse Bay Hotel and the Government Civil Hospital.

MAN WITH ONE ARM

But Able To Steal Vegetables

RECORD OF CRIME

Ngai Fat, a young man without a left arm, who since 1932 has served no less than ten prison terms appeared yesterday before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy when he pleaded guilty to the theft of vegetables, valued at one dollar, from a garden off Ma Tau Wei Road.

Det.-Sub-Inspr. R. Cunningham stated the vegetables were stolen during the night.

The Magistrate (reading defendant's criminal record). It is obvious that short sentences are of no use in your case.

Defendant: I have a licence to hawk but have no money to buy goods. I am lame.

S. I. Cunningham: He is not lame. He has only one arm. Everything has been done that can be done to help this man but he simply does not pay attention at all. He is under police supervision until 1938.

Sentence of six months' hard labour was passed.

CHILD DROWNED

The body of a three-year-old Chinese girl was found floating in the harbour yesterday morning near a wharf off the west wall of the Kowloon Docks. The child had apparently fallen from a junk or sampan. It is believed. The body was removed to the Kowloon Mortuary.

CLYDE AVIATION PROGRESS

New Machine And Aero Engine

£500 AUTOGIRO PUT ON THE MARKET

For a number of years Messrs. G. and J. Weir, Ltd., Cathcart, have carried out experiments on autogiros, having obtained the licence to build such machines from the Clerva Autogiro Company, Ltd., London, and as a result of their research they have now evolved a new type of autogiro and also a special aero engine. The Weir autogiro, which may open up new possibilities in the use of aircraft, is being put on the market at the provisional price of £500.

The Clerva autogiro introduced completely new ideas in aviation, and it is claimed that it has offered a degree of safety and convenience far in advance of anything obtainable with ordinary fixed-wing craft. The Weir is of the "direct control" type, and in its design the autogiro system has been completely revised.

The main features of the modern direct-control autogiro include:—

Ability to fly at very low speeds with perfect safety, since the machine is fully supported by the rotor and cannot stall or spin;

Extreme simplicity of control;

Safety in landing, even in the event of engine failure; and

Ability to descend almost vertically and land "on the spot" without subsequent forward run.

To those characteristics has now been added a most vitally important advantage—that of direct take-off without any taxiing or forward movement—of the machine. The autogiro lifts vertically off the ground, and only when well clear does normal forward flying commence.

AERODROMES UNNECESSARY

This "direct take-off" innovation greatly enlarges the scope of the autogiro. The owner of the machine does not need to depend on large aerodromes, but can make use of any field or open space of reasonable size for landing and taking off. By obviating the necessity for travelling to and from aerodromes considerable reductions can be made in expenses. The use of flat roofs in urban districts for landing purpose has already been experimentally demonstrated by the use of autogiros.

The new Weir machine, which is a single-seater, has a new type of rotor system which is claimed to be inherently stable under all conditions of flight, and which provides exceptionally light and simple controls by means of a single hanging "joystick" or control column.

This rotor system has an additional advantage by its ability to "spill and lift" under the control of the pilot for landing in high winds or very confined spaces.

Experience has shown that complete failure of the engine need cause no excitement, since, unlike the fixed wing machines, the autogiro will then merely sink slowly to the ground. The rotor blades are not driven by the engine (except for take-off purposes) and will continue to rotate and to support the machine.

After the initial mechanical start-up by the engine the rotor blades are free to revolve without interference of any kind, and they continue in motion the whole time the machine is off the ground. The engine may be cut out at any time without affecting the landing speed, the vertical descent being fixed by the speed rotation of the blades.

The Weir autogiro has no fixed wings. It has neither ailerons, elevators, nor rudder. Fixed vertical and horizontal fins are fitted, and the movements of the machine are directly and entirely controlled by tilting the axis of the rotor hub. This is effected by a "hanging joystick" suitably coupled to the rotor hub through jointed rods. Climbing, turning, descending, and all movements of the machine, are simply, carried out by the single control.

Many different models of the autogiro have been produced in the evolution of the Weir machine, including two experimental single-seaters, and a great

HOUSE CLEANING IN CHINA

Comment On Rehabilitation In Kwangtung

MISAPPROPRIATIONS BY OFFICIALS ALLEGED

Requests have been made by the Kwangtung Labour Union, the Kwangtung Mechanics Union and other similar organizations with the Central Government to investigate into the alleged misappropriations of the Canton municipal funds and other irregularities in Kwangtung.

Among the alleged cases listed in the petition to the Government were the following:

The theft of $7,000,000 municipal bank notes which have not as yet been recorded;

Misappropriations of the $4,000,000 treasury bonds;

The commission on mine products;

The smuggling and sales of imported cement;

The smuggling and monopoly on imported sugar; and

The manufacture of counterfeit notes.

Commenting on the rehabilitation measures being enforced in Kwangtung by the Government appointees, the "Shun Pao" said the extreme poverty which China is facing to-day has been caused chiefly by corrupt officials and militarists in the past. While a thorough "house-cleaning" has now been launched in Kwangtung, similar steps should be taken in nearly all of the other provinces.

CAPITALISTS IN CHINA

The failure of Gen. Chen Chitang, the paper said, is entirely due to the corruption, which he and his colleagues, permitted in their administration. "It is the general conception that officials aim to get two things: power and money. Although Gen. Chen has lost his power over the south-west, he has certainly succeeded in getting away with the money which he wanted. Moreover his adherents helped themselves to the funds in the provincial treasury and other Government offices."

Continuing the paper said this is nothing new as history knows of many officials who have enriched themselves before being ousted from the political arena. After pointing out that many retired militarists and officials are the chief shareholders of various banks and big concerns in the country and are therefore capitalists, the paper said much of the nation's humiliations were caused by this corruption.

"The Central Government authorities have realized the necessity of a clean administration," the paper concluded. "We hope that the proposed 'house-cleaning' will not be limited to Kwangtung alone but will be carried out in every province in the country."

THE WEIR AERO ENGINE

A special 4-cylinder in line air-cooled inverted type aero engine has been designed and built by Messrs. Weir for use in the new autogiro. The engine is known as a pukka aircraft power unit, designed and constructed in accordance with Air Ministry requirements. The main particulars of the engine are:—Bore, 80mm.; stroke, 100mm.; capacity, about 2,000 c.c.; normal b.h.p. at 2,550 r.p.m.

The main components of the engine are conveniently arranged. Dual ignition, is employed, with automatic advance. The carburettor, which is of the Amal type, is fully balanced and fitted with easy starting mechanism and altitude control.

The experimental engines have passed the equivalent Air Ministry type tests, but units now going through the Cathcart works will be passed out as series engines after a full type test, now being prepared, has been completed.

The provisional price of this aero engine is £110. The whole unit has been designed for long runs between overhauls, and attention has been given to provision for easy servicing.

A demonstration of a Cathcart-built autogiro fitted with this new engine, is being given in London to-day.

HONG KONG, AUGUST 7, 1936.

STRICKEN SPAIN

Spain is in the throes of a Revolution and the course it is taking appears to be similar to that of the French and Russian revolutions. After the King or Tsar has been deposed the moderates try and govern the country, but this has, in every case failed. Fresh outbreaks occur and after each there is a further swing to the left. In the French Revolution the moderates were called "Girondins" and the extremists "Jacobins", the modern expressions for these respectively appear to be "Fascists" and "Communists".

Early this year the Communists took charge of the government of Spain, and the present crisis is an attempt of the moderates or Fascists to regain their lost power. It is to be feared that matters will go more to the left and there is a danger of a Regime similar to that of Robespierre or Lenin taking place.

Spain and its territories overseas seem to fall into four main zones, four main degrees of loyalty and disloyalty—a southern zone, including Spanish Morocco, in which the rebels have had their greatest successes, and are apparently still holding the territory; a second zone, stretching across the southern part of Spain proper, in which the rebels have had sporadic successes; a third, including Madrid, in which revolts broke out but were more or less easily suppressed; and the fourth, across the north of Spain, which has remained almost consistently loyal, except for local shootings and a more serious outbreak in Barcelona. In Madrid itself there has been much shooting; some of the garrisons on the outskirts revolted, and fighting continued for some hours; but the bulk of the population remained calm—probably in the calmness of utter despair. The revolt seems to have been almost completely military in origin and to have moved to a set programme in Morocco and Southern Spain from the moment when the bugles sounded the fall-in to rouse the garrisons and plunge Spain into yet another tragic episode of her Republican career.

The rebels counted on most supporters of the Right parties joining them and passing on the fiery cross to the north. For the present they seem to have been largely disappointed in this hope, though the truth as to how far

ROBBERY IN
WANCHAIVictims Blinded
With Pepper

A daring robbery was perpetrated No. 174, Johnson Road yesterday evening. The premises were those of the Lee Ping Kee watchmakers, whose mistress, Cheng Hau, a married woman, and a fook were in the shop at the time of the outrage.

At about 5 p.m. two Chinese men walked into the shop and asked to see some watches. While the mistress was bargaining with these men over the price of the watches, one of them threw pepper into her eyes. The other man did likewise to the fook. They snatched two watches and succeeded in escaping. The value of the watches was $10.

the civilian population took a hand in the revolt cannot yet be known. The gulf between Left and Right, which had been steadily widening since 1931, had become wider than ever, and Spaniards generally were looking back with dismay or disgust on the Republican years that were to have brought them peace and freedom. The first two years under a Left Republican Government had brought a few social reforms but had already alienated the Right parties because of the measures against established religion. The next two years under Governments of the Right were years of missed opportunities and repression. In February of this year the Left again came to power, a Left much more extreme and ambitious than previously, yet during the succeeding months the Cortes have busied themselves almost wholly with recriminations. They planned social reforms; some land was distributed to the peasants; but the Government failed in the task which Spain most needed, the task of civic appeasement and the restoration of order and authority. Assassinations by both Communists and Fascists were reported almost every day, culminating in the murder of the Monarchist leader, Senor Calvo Sotelo, by men in police uniforms. The Right (equally to blame for the previous unrest) asked how could the Left restore order, when they had allowed their own supporters to declare over a hundred general strikes since February and over two hundred partial strikes. The younger officers of the Army saw no future for themselves under a regime which threatened to establish a proletarian army on the Russian model: generals were being dismissed; and the present revolt is their desperate attempt to found a new order.

What hope is there of the future? The revolt may succeed, though that is hardly likely unless the civilian population of the Right takes a strong hand in it. More probably it will be suppressed, especially as most soldiers in the ranks are said to incline to the Left. In either case the outlook is black, offering in the present temper of Spain only months of repression.

The Left will almost certainly move farther towards the extreme; indeed, such a tendency has been sharply seen in the rapid transformations of the Cabinet. Senor Caballero, the Socialist-Communist leader, has already risen in influence and, as an immediate result of the revolt, he will urge more strongly the introduction of his scheme for reforming the Army. His further influence on the Republican Socialist-Communist alliance which has the majority of seats in the Cortes cannot be gauged.

Spain has many grievous economic, social, and religious problems to solve, and it is hard to see how they can be solved fundamentally without a united effort. Much harder to see are the prospects of such an effort.

BARNESLEY COLLIERY
EXPLOSIONNight Shift Workers
Entombed

A serious explosion occurred at the Wharfedale Woodmoor Colliery, Barnsley, when the night shift numbering 63 men were entombed. The mine, however, is not afire. The rescue work begun was hampered by falls of timber. Teams of all neighbouring collieries were mobilised for rescue work.

Thousands of people, including many women, are standing at the colliery yard in a continuous string awaiting news of the entombed miners.

The rush of volunteers to assist in the rescue work is so great that the services of many will not be required. So far only one man has been brought to the surface suffering from burns.

The engine driver who rescued Brown stated that he did not hear the explosion owing to the noise of his engine, but a gust of wind told him that something serious had happened. He telephoned to Brown and other entombed men at different pitheads asking them to come to the surface but got no replies. He then descended the pit where Brown was working and rescued him.

Grave fears are entertained for the safety of the rest.—

ANOTHER REPORT

London, Aug. 6.
A serious explosion occurred early this morning at Wharfedale Woodmoor colliery near Barnsley, Yorkshire.

One man immediately outside the affected area has been brought up in a serious condition, but 67 men of the night shift are as present cut off by a fall of the roof.

Rescue teams from neighbouring collieries are down the pit, but after several hours' work they had been unable to reach the trapped men.

There are hundreds of willing helpers and crowds of anxious women at the pit head waiting for news of those below.—

RETRENCHMENT IN CANTON

Canton, Aug. 6.
Over 2,000 army officers who served in the abolished First Group Army from the rank of Lieutenant-general to major, were relieved to-day of their posts in the interest of economy, as they were never required to render any service at all.

Their salaries were mere subsidies granted by General Chen Chi-tang, head of the First Group Army, who wished to maintain friendly relations with these leisure men, mostly former commanders of troops in Kwangtung and elsewhere. Their dismissal brings about a reduction of $120,000 a month.

All sinecure posts in the municipal and provincial officers will be abolished when Mayor designate Tseng Yang-pu and General Huang Mu-sung, new chairman-designate of the Kwangtung Provincial Government, assume their respective posts on August 10.—

A similar report appeared previously in the Chinese papers.

FILMS GO UP

At Hunghom

A loss, estimated at $100,000, was sustained by the Unique Cinema Company as a result of a fire which broke out on their premises in Hunghom yesterday noon.

The blaze was confined to the building which housed the films, and it was fortunate for the surrounding district that this building was fire-proof. Though of short duration, the intensity of the blaze can be imagined when one realizes how highly inflammable celluloid is.

It started about 11.30 a.m. and quickly burnt out. The Fire Brigade was called to the scene but could do very little owing to the nature of the material involved in the fire.

The cause of the conflagration is unknown.

YAUMATI CALL

What appears to be a drop from the sublime to the ridiculous is the fire which was reported in Yaumati. The damage during this blaze was estimated at about $15. The Fire Brigade were again called out, but before they could arrive the fire had been subdued by the inmates of the floor.

The place concerned was the first floor of No. 28, Parkes Street.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

A probate of the will was granted to Leung Shun Ho, and Leung Cheuk Fan from the estate of Leung Sing Hand, alias Leung U, Hing Tong to the value of $34,800. The deceased passed away on January 21, 1936, at his residence 72, Queen's Road West, at the age of 63.

Duncan McNeill, late of 34, St. Edmunds Road, Ipswich, Suffolk, who died on August 24, 1935, left an estate of $1800 to Malcolm William Wickstead McNeill and Winifred Gwen Supor.

A marriage was performed at the Registry Office yesterday afternoon between George Waldron Chisham, 32, of the Chinese Maritime Customs and Miss Greta Rico, 21, of 150, Prince Edward Road, Kowloon.

Mr. Kenneth Chan, the managing director of Gande, Price and Co., Ltd., left yesterday with his family on the P. and O. liner "Rajputana" for a two months' vacation which will be spent in Japan.

Among the arrivals on the N.Y.K. liner "Tatsuta Maru" yesterday morning was Mr. H. G. Eddo, who is on another trip around the world. He first began making round-the-world tours twenty years ago, and he makes it a point to take one trip every year. He will go to Canton, and then make a tour down to the Philippine Islands, Singapore and India on his return to America.

Two cases of Enteric Fever were reported to the Health Authorities for the 24 hours ended on Wednesday.

Dr. H. H. Kung, Minister of Finance, accompanied by his family and staff, arrived at Kowloon late on Wednesday night. Mr. Tseng Yang-in, vice-Minister of Railways and newly appointed Mayor of Canton, arrived from Nanchang early yesterday. He called on General Chiang Kai-shek, President of the Executive Yuan and Mr. Chang Kiangnan, Minister of Railways, and reported on his inspection tour of the Canton-Hankow railway.

JESSE OWENS' FEATS

Berlin, Aug. 6.
Jesse Owens has established an Olympic record performance which will certainly stand for many Olympiads by winning the three gold medals and setting up two new records. The famous Finnish athlete, Nurmi, won four gold medals at the Paris Games in 1924 but Owens still has a chance to equal this if the United States' relay team, of which he is a member, wins the 400 metres relay.

Owens upon being questioned on the secret of his phenomenal achievements answered, "I live as an athlete should live and that is the secret of my success."

The German Utz Long, who gained second place in the broad jump, believes Owens capable of jumping 8.25 metres. "Owens jumps only as far as is necessary and if he meets an opponent able to pass the 8-metre mark, he will certainly increase his own world record. He possesses an amazing speed and an uncomplicated technique, both of which contribute to his success at jumping."

HANDS-OFF IN CIVIL WAR

Italy Asks Three Questions

REPLY TO FRANCE

Rome, Aug. 6.
A communique announces agreement in principle with non-intervention in Spain. It says that Italy has asked France three questions:

Firstly, if the moral solidarity with the conflicting parties as expressed through public demonstrations in press campaigns, subscription funds, enlistment of volunteers, etc., does not already constitute dangerous intervention?

Secondly, whether non-intervention guarantees to blind private individuals as well as governments?

Thirdly, whether France contemplates measures of control to ensure observance of the agreement?

OTHER POWERS

London, Aug. 6.
In regard to the proposals made by the French Government for non-intervention by other powers in Spain, Britain and Belgium have expressed cordial approval. Germany has agreed in principle provided Russia would also adhere, and Russia is now reported to have accepted the French proposal, adding a suggestion—made earlier by Britain—that Portugal should also join the agreement.

Replies from Italy and Portugal, which it is hoped and believed will be favourable, are expected shortly. The French representations in Rome and Lisbon are being supported by Great Britain.

MARCH ON MADRID

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special

Tangiers, Aug. 6.

According to despatches here, the transport of troops for General Franco, which are destined to take part in the Nationalist troops' march on Madrid from the south, began on Wednesday, when two steamers with troops and war material left Ceuta for Algeciras. Fog enabled the departure to be carried out according to schedule, but half way to Algeciras a destroyer of the Government attacked the ships. Bombing planes of the nationalist forces, however, soon forced the destroyer to seek refuge in the harbour of Malaga, both steamers reaching Algeciras safely.

From Gibraltar it is reported that during the shelling a bomb exploded on the polo field there whilst British officers were playing, but nobody was hurt.

PREMIER APPEALS FOR NATIONAL SUPPORT

Difficult Task Facing The Government

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special

Athens, August 6.

The grave menace constituted by the Communist agitation in Greece is emphatically stressed by Premier Metaxas in a message to the Greek nation, in which he seeks to explain and justify the latest measures of the Greek Government.

The Premier stresses that the Chamber elected last January was incapable of giving the nation a stable Government and that the Communist Party profited by the situation. The message goes on to say that the increasing Communist agitation which aimed at preparing a new revolution constituted a grave menace to the existing social order.

Mutilated Bodies On Show

BRUTALITY OF GUARDS

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special

Amsterdam, Aug. 5.

The "Dagblaat of Nordbrabant" publishes an appalling report of the massacre alleged to have taken place in Madrid.

The account which the paper declares was received by special courier via Lisbon, asserts that the tribunals whose members were nominated by the Marxist Trade Unions, remain in session day and night. The correspondent, who lives in the immediate neighbourhood of the barracks, relates that every morning he hears the rattle of the executionary salves. The names of the condemned are not made known, but revoltingly mutilated bodies of the executed are put on show avowedly with the object of intimidating the population.

In long rows hundreds of past places where the corpses are to be seen. The reporter says that he himself saw 42 corpses mostly in officers' uniform or priests' garments piled up against the wall. The bodies of women were entirely naked. Great pools of blood covered the ground. Among the spectators were the wives, mothers, sisters and even children of the arrested, seeking their relatives among the dead.

The guards, who are of the coarsest fibre, had orders to show the corpses to the relatives if asked, they kicked and mutilated the dead in doing so. When, in despair, the bereaved person attacks the guard with bare hands, he is immediately shot down by the Marxist Soldados.

STRIKE BREAKS DOWN

The Communists, according to the Premier, had carried on unceasing propaganda in the Army, inciting the soldiers to disobedience and civil war, and had also carried their subversive propaganda into the Civil Service.

In all cases the Communists had taken advantage of the difficult economic situation of Greece, for which Metaxas, however, makes the maladministration of the former Republican Government responsible.

The present Government, so the Premier went on to stress, has concentrated itself to combat the evils which have made themselves evident in the structure of Greece's social life.

The message concludes by saying that the Government has resolved to rapidly and conscientiously fulfil the difficult task which it has been assigned, and urges the Greek Nation in the interests of the Fatherland to resist demagogic influence.

It is stated that the general strike has completely broken down, and that order prevails throughout the country.

Desire For Better Relations

LONDON VIEWS ON REPORTS

London, Aug. 6.
Reports by the "Asahi" from London linking the name of Sir Samuel Hoare with the plan to promote an Anglo-Japanese rapprochement are treated with the greatest reserve in responsible quarters in London where it is pointed out that Sir Samuel is not in a position to initiate such a move.

Nevertheless the desire for certain Japanese quarters for an improvement in Anglo-Japanese relations is shared in London despite the realisation of many difficulties, notably the influence of Japanese extremists as evidenced by the treatment accorded to the Indian trader Russell in Manchukuo and smuggling in North China.

The question of recognition of Manchukuo is not under consideration in London where the view is held that recognition is a matter for the League.

The possibility of Russo-Japanese naval talks with a view to extending the principles of the London naval treaty in the Far East has not been discussed in London, but Soviet circles point out that amelioration in political relations of the two countries is an indispensable prelude to naval negotiations.

Cambridge, 35 wins; Oxford, 27 wins; 6 drawn.

Cambridge won by eight events to three. The Cambridge team was in all probability one of the strongest that has ever represented either University. Exceptionally fine performances were accomplished by A. Irfan, of Cambridge, L. R. McIntyre, of Oxford, and A. G. K. Brown, of Cambridge. Irfan, who won the weight for the third successive year, created a new inter-University record. His first effort of 44ft. 7in. beat W. W. Coe's (Oxford) inter-University record, established in 1902, by nine inches, and in the third round he improved upon this by adding a foot and two-and-a-half inches. McIntyre ran a superb race in the three miles, which he won by 40 yards in 14min. 37.6sec.—a time which has only been beaten once, by G. M. Sproule, of Oxford, in 1914. Brown's time of 49.2sec. in the quarter-mile, has only been equalled by himself, when he established last year an inter-University record of 48sec.

THE BOAT RACE

First held in 1829
Cambridge, 47 wins; Oxford, 40 wins. The dead heat was in 1977. Cambridge gained their 13th successive victory, winning by five lengths, in 21min. 6sec. Oxford have much upon which to congratulate themselves, in that they led a crew very much superior in racing experience, in weight, strength, and cohesion for about two miles. Incidentally, the Cambridge crew, averaging 13st. 9lb. a man, was the heaviest that has ever rowed in the Boat Race. At the top of Chiswick Eyot, however, Cambridge were a third of a length ahead, and from this point Oxford were utterly outpaced. In the winning crew no praise is too high for the President, J. H. T. Wilson, a classic No. 7, and W. G. R. M. Laurie, who "stroked" with admirable judgment. In the Oxford crew D. M. de R. Winsor's stroking was undoubtedly the best since that of W. F. Mellen, who stroked Oxford crew to victory in 1923. E. J. Sciorino, the President, at No. 5, J. D. Sturrock at No. 6, and J. C. Cherry at No. 7 all rowed well.

CRICKET

First held in 1827
Cambridge, 43 wins; Oxford, 37 wins; 15 drawn.

Cambridge gained an easy victory by 8 wickets. Oxford lost the toss for the eighth time since 1925, and were fighting an uphill battle from the start. Cambridge made 432 for nine wickets on the opening day. This is the highest score ever made by Cambridge in the University match, but it has been exceeded by Oxford in 1909 and 1931. N. W. D. Yardley played a beautiful innings of 90, and R. P. Nelson, if less spectacular, played an invaluable innings of 91. At the end of the second day Oxford, who were compelled to follow on, were left with nine wickets and 102 runs to save the innings defeat. Any chance of saving the match depended upon N. S. Mitchell-Innes, the captain, who had played a great innings of 79, but he was quickly dismissed next morning after adding only five runs to his score. His early dismissal, to all intents and purposes, settled the result of the match. Of the Cambridge bowlers, M. Jahangir Khan, with six wickets for 33 runs, and J. M. Brocklebank, who took 10 wickets for 139 runs, were the most successful.

CROSS-COUNTRY

First held in 1880
Cambridge, 27 wins; Oxford, 24 wins.

Oxford won by 27 points to 23. The race was held for the tenth year in succession over the 7½ miles course at Horton Kirby, Kent. The first two men, A. Robertson, of Oxford, and L. R. McIntyre, the Oxford captain, beat the record for the course, and E. C. Weir, of Cambridge, who was third, equalled it. When P. J. Albery, of Oxford, returned the previous fastest time, 42min. 27sec., in 1933, however, the course was about 100 yards longer than it was this season.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

First held in 1874
Oxford, 28 wins; Cambridge, 24 wins; 8 drawn.

Oxford gained a surprising victory by three goals to one. Cambridge were generally expected to win, but Oxford rose to the occasion in great style. In defence Oxford were great. Cambridge led at half-time by one goal, scored by C. Sayer. In the second half J. Lee, who all through the game proved himself to be a most virile centre-forward, scored Oxford's first two goals, and S. C. Gilchrist settled the issue by scoring the third goal.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

First held in 1872

Oxford, 27 wins; Cambridge, 22 wins; 11 drawn.

The match ended in a pointless draw. This was only the third time since 1872 that neither side managed to score, the other occasions being in 1878 and 1892. Oxford had a really fine pack, who obtained the ball with monotonous regularity, but their backs failed to make the best use of their opportunities. The Cambridge backs, on the other hand, including such eminent players as W. Wooler, K. C. Fyfe, and C. W. Jones, were given but few opportunities by their pack.

HOCKEY

First held in 1889
Cambridge, 20 wins; Oxford, 15 wins; seven drawn.

The match resulted in a draw, each side scoring one goal. Oxford owed much to their backs, J. W. Seamer and J. A. L. Leeming, whose superb defence undoubtedly saved the side. The Cambridge defence, too, was very fine and D. Layton, the captain, was the outstanding half-back on the field. Oxford led at half-time by one goal scored by W. A. Hay Cooper. Five minutes from the end N. W. D. Yardley equalized for Cambridge.

LAWN TENNIS

First held in 1881
Cambridge, 28 wins; Oxford, 16 wins; 10 drawn.

Oxford won by 11 matches to six. On account of rain three doubles and one single could not be played. A. M. Cunliff, the American, was the dominating figure in the contest. It was a great achievement on his part to lose but one game to M. Rhandari, of Cambridge.

RACKETS

First held in 1853
Oxford, 31 wins; Cambridge, 23 wins; 19 drawn.

The match was drawn at one-all, as the second strings' singles match does not yet count in the University record. In the four-handed match Cambridge (J. H. Pawle and E. F. A. Roys) beat Oxford (R. C. Riseley and R. Pulbrook) by four games to one (15-7, 15-10, 9-15, 15-7, 15-4). Riseley gained an easy victory over Pawle in the singles' match by three games to love (15-7, 15-6, 15-7). It is doubtful whether better service than that of Riseley has been seen at Queen's Club.

TENNIS

First held in 1859
Cambridge, 41 wins; Oxford, 10 wins; 15 drawn.

In the first strings' match R. C. Riseley (Oxford) outclassed A. A. Part (Cambridge) and won by 6-0, 6-1, 6-2. In the second strings' match P. Kershaw (Oxford) defeated J. H. Pawle (Cambridge) by 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. In the four-handed match Riseley and Kershaw beat Part and Pawle by 6-2, 6-3, 6-5. Riseley has proved himself one of the best players produced by either University, and he may well win the championship in a few years' time.

ENGLAND POLO

PLAYER SUSPENDED

'Conduct...
Prejudicial To
The Game'

MR. TYRRELL MARTIN

London, July 20.

Mr. E. H. Tyrrell Martin, captain of England's polo team against the United States in the Westchester Cup matches, and a member of the Texas Rangers team that reached the final of the Champion Cup at Hurlingham on Saturday, has been suspended by the Hurlingham Polo Committee from further play in the Champion Cup this season.

On account of his suspension, which arises from an alleged incident in the semi-final match between Texas Rangers and the Optimists at Hurlingham, the Texas Rangers have scratched from the final of the Champion Cup, and therefore, for the first time, there will be no Champion Cup final.

It should have been played at Hurlingham to-day.

NOTICE POSTED

This notice, signed "M. Gannon, Hurlingham Club Polo Committee," was posted in the polo members' room under the grandstand at Hurlingham to-day:

"The Hurlingham Polo Club Committee suspend Mr. E. H. Tyrrell Martin from continuing to play in the Champion Cup 1936, for conduct in that tournament prejudicial to the game."

Mr. C. B. Wrightsman, captain of Texas Rangers, decided to scratch his side from the Champion Cup final because there was no player he could call on at short notice who could adequately take the place of Mr. Tyrrell Martin at back for the final that should have been played against Templeton to-day.

The Champion Cup is the oldest event in Hurlingham's polo season in an ordinary year.

MEETING ON WEDNESDAY

The teams that should have met to-day, Texas Rangers and Templeton, are due to meet at Roehampton on Wednesday afternoon in the final of the Roehampton Open Challenge Cup. There is nothing to prevent Mr. Tyrrell Martin taking part in that match as the suspension applies only to the Champion Cup.

A witness of the Champion Cup semi-final between Texas Rangers and the Optimists told an "Evening News" correspondent to-day that Mr. Tyrrell Martin and Mr. H. H. Hughes, of the Optimists, were engaged in some very stern fusties during the match, but few in the crowd had any idea that anything had taken place which called for action by the Hurlingham Club Polo Committee.

IN WESTCHESTER CUP TEAM

Mr. Hughes was a member under Mr. Tyrrell Martin, of the England team that met the United States recently in the Westchester Cup matches.

FOURTH DAY OF OLYMPIAD

America Still In High Position

WINDY CONDITIONS

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Berlin, Aug. 5.

After the fourth day of the Olympic, broad conclusions as to the position the various countries hold in the World of Sports, are slowly beginning to emerge. It is of course too early to dogmatise, but the predominant position of the U.S.A. which so many countries are trying to break, seems in certain directions still unassailable. Germany on the other hand has had results which show what can be done by constant devotion to a common ideal within a few years, while other countries did as yet not live up to certain expectations, for instance Japan. Another remarkable feature of this Olympic is that none of the British Colonies, that for decades have devoted themselves to sport, has won, Canada alone having achieved one Silver and two Bronze Medals.

The day (Wednesday) opened bright but windy, making the sitting in the Stadium for any length of time rather trying. The attendance in the morning was good, quite half the Stadium being filled.

OWENS' THIRD MEDAL

Berlin, Aug. 6.

The phenomenal American Negro athlete Jesse Owens won his third Gold Medal by winning the final 200 metres event in Olympic record time of 20.7 secs., before Matthew Robinson, U.S.A. and Marinus Bernardus Osendarp, Holland, whose times were 21.1 secs., and 21.3 secs., respectively.

Owens' marvellous performance in the 100 metres and the broad-jump event on the previous day already proved the sensation of this Olympiad thus establishing beyond any doubt that he is one of the outstanding athletes of all times. The American Negro again ran his race in wonderfully easy style and the outcome seemed already sure from the start, since Owens took the lead at once and simply ran away from his opponents.

The best European in the race, Osendarp, Holland, made a fine end spurt, which gave him back some of the lost ground, although he was not able to reach the two Americans. It is interesting to note that the former Olympic World Record, which Owens has now bettered, was also set up by an American Negro, Tolan in the Los Angeles Olympiad, 1932.

Owens' feat in winning three Gold Medals in the field is without precedent and thus a record in itself, for it will be remembered that the four Gold Medals won by the great Finnish runner Nurmi were not won at the same Olympiad, but at three successive ones. Antwerp, Paris, Amsterdam.

BRITON'S SUCCESS

Berlin, Aug. 5.

The Olympic 50,000 metres walk event was won by the Britisher Harold Whitlock in a new Olympic record of 4 hrs. 30 mins., 41 secs., which replaces the record of 4 hrs. 50 mins., 10 secs., set up by another British athlete, W. Green at Los Angeles in 1932.

Schwab, Switzerland, finished the race 14 minutes behind the winner and Adalberts Bubenko, Latvia, who came in only 25 secs. later, was third.

The victory of the Britisher, who seemed quite calm, was enthusiastically acclaimed by many Britishers, who were in the Stadium, since this gave Britain the first Gold Medal. A part of the way to be passed on this race went across a straight stretch of the Berlin Avus motor track, where the small group at the head started a fierce fight for the lead.

Up to the thirty kilometre, Dainchi, Latvia, had been in the lead, but there the British Whitlock made a fine end spurt and passed the Latvian not relinquishing his lead to the end.

WORLD TO HEAR CORONATION

B.B.C. Plans In Preparation

KING MAY DELIVER EMPIRE MESSAGE

London, July 20.
Plans for the Coronation broadcasts next year are already being prepared at Broadcasting House. I understand that the Westminster Abbey service on May 12 will definitely be broadcast, writes a correspondent.

It is generally expected that after Coronation, the King will broadcast a personal message to the Empire.

B.B.C. officials have visited houses on the probable route of the procession to find vantage points for commentators. Three new high-powered short-wave transmitters at Daventry should be ready for Empire transmissions. After analysing their records of shortwave reception during May for several years past B.B.C. engineers believe that on the day and at the time fixed for the Coronation world-wide reception conditions will be excellent.

Inquiries about facilities for relaying the programmes are already reaching Broadcasting House from eleven countries, and London will be invaded by commentators from

DOLLAR LINER GOES AGROUND

PRESIDENT HOOVER HELD UP FOR SIX HOURS

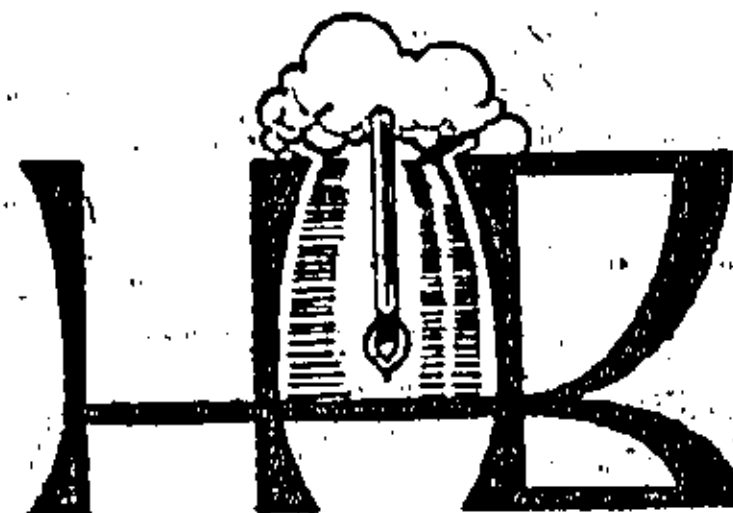

Shanghai, July 30.
En route from Shanghai to Hong Kong, and shortly after passing Wooming, the U.S. President Hoover, giant Dollar Liner, went aground near Kaitoah Buoy early yesterday morning and remained aground for half a day. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon she got off the bank safely, without any damage, and proceeded on her way.

The grounding took place at a time when the high water was only 7.05 feet above the lowest low water. After the first and third quarters of the moon, the neap tide, as it is called, occurs, and at those times the high water level is at its lowest point. (N.O.D.N.)

Mr. Gerald Cock, B.B.C. Television Director, intends to televise the Coronation ceremony. No objection by the authorities is anticipated as the "television eye," the only piece of apparatus which will be visible, works silently and is practically as unobtrusive as a microphone.

In any event, the B.B.C. will probably televise a film of the procession to the Abbey.

SERVICE NEWS

The Army

London, July 23. Sanction has been given for the annual dispatch from India of two majors, two captains, and eight subalterns for duty with the Royal Artillery Depot at Woolwich. Officers so posted must have not less than four years' Indian service, and the two years' duty at the depot will count as completion of the six years abroad. On finishing depot duty these officers will join a home unit. The officers coming home will leave India by the last two troopships of the season, re-ports being sent by the last two boats from Southampton. Army Instruction (India) No. 69 of 1925 is therefore cancelled.

CHANGE IN LEAVE RULES
With reference to the second sub-clause of paragraph 880, Regulations for the Army in India, it has been decided that authority to sanction the extension of privilege leave from one privilege leave year to another shall be delegated to the normal sanctioning authorities for the grant of leave. The necessary amendment will be made in the revised "Military Leave Rules-India," which is now under consideration.

ARTILLERY ORGANIZATION
The conversion of the 1st Light Brigade, R.A., into an Army field brigade has been cancelled, and it will now become the 4th Anti-Aircraft Brigade, R.A. The 8th, 8th, and 10th Light Batteries become the 16th, 18th, and 20th Anti-Aircraft Batteries.

The 49th, 50th, and 51st Light Batteries, T.A., become the 214th (Argyll), 215th (But), and 219th (Ross) Field Batteries, and form the 54th (West Highland) Army Field Brigade. The 62nd (North Scottish) Medium Brigade has dropped the word "North" from its designation.

NEW BATTALION COMMANDERS
Major R. V. Read, D.S.O., M.C., has been selected for command of the 1st Battalion, The Essex Regiment, in succession to Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. Maitland D.S.O., M.C., who has been placed on half-pay on account of ill-health.
Major and Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel E. H. Barker, D.S.O., M.C., has been selected for command of the 2nd Battalion, The King's Royal Rifle Corps, with effect from July 13, 1936, in succession to Lieutenant-Colonel T. R. Eastwood, D.S.O., M.C., who has been appointed to the Staff.

LIGHT TANK COMPANIES
The following officers of the 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th Light Tank Companies, R.T.C., have qualified at the Royal Tank Corps School in India in driving, maintenance, general vehicles, and instructorship:—Lieutenant J. Hall, E. R. S. Castle, W. L. Sutherland, R. G. Tiahe.

The designation "Light Tank Company" is now adopted for all R.T.C. units in India, whether equipped with light tanks or armoured cars. The numbers of the old units will be retained.

TANKS IN PALESTINE
The mechanized units serving in Palestine, mentioned in "The Times" yesterday, also include one company of the 6th Battalion, Royal Tank Corps, which has had active duty since May, when sent from Egypt with the 1st Battalion. The R.T.C. in the first reinforcement. This makes the force in general representative of all arms and services, as well as the R.A.F. and the Navy at Haifa.

AWARD OF FLYING BADGE
An amendment to the King's Regulations provides that a medical officer permitted to qualify, or an officer of the general duties branch to whom permission to qualify may be accorded by the Air Ministry in special circumstances, will be authorized to wear the flying badge on a certificate being rendered that he has passed the following tests:—(a) Has completed within a period of not more than 18 months 60 hours' dual and solo flying on an elementary or service type landplane of which not less than 30 hours was solo flying; (b) is able to fly a landplane reliably and accurately, execute correctly the evolutions of normal flight and land consistently well at low speeds; (c) is able to execute forced landings successfully; (d) has carried out accurately at least one triangular cross-country flight of not less than 150 miles; (e) has flown successfully in rough weather and through clouds; and (f) has climbed to 10,000 ft. and remained there for 20 minutes. Officers of branches other than the general duties and medical branches will not be permitted to receive flying instruction on service aircraft.

WAR OFFICE APPOINTMENT

The War Office announces that Colonel M. F. Grove-White, D.S.O., O.B.E., has been appointed a General Staff Officer (1st Grade), the War Office, with effect from July 13, 1936.

Colonel Grove-White, recently promoted, is transferred from Blackdown and R.E. service. He was in the War Office from 1919 to 1921 and from 1924 to 1925, and served as Staff Officer with the local forces in the Straits Settlements and Federated Malay States from the end of 1925 to the middle of 1929.

PROMOTION TO FLAG RANK

With the promotions to flag rank announced to-day all the captains of seniority of 1925 have now passed off that list. There were 20 captains promoted in that year, and of this number five have now been retained on the active list of rear-admirals after promotion. One of the five is borne supernumerary to the list of flag officers while holding an appointment under the New Zealand Government.

The effect of recent changes is to reduce the seniority of captains at the head of that list to 10 years, compared with 12 years in 1933-34. Even so, there is not a corresponding reduction in the average age of these officers, on account of the fact that by 1925, when they were promoted to captain, post-war retrenchment had slowed down promotion to that rank. Two years ago the senior captains had 12 years' seniority and were just over 50. To-day the senior captains have 10 years' seniority, but the six at the top of the rank are also over 50. It may be recalled that all the principal sea commanders in the War obtained promotion to flag rank before this age. Leaving out the exceptional case of Lord Beatty, who was a rear-admiral at 39, it will be found that Sir Roger Keyes was a rear-admiral at 44, Lord Wester Wemyss and Jellicoe at 47, Sir Charles Madden at 48, and Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, Sir Boyce Sturges, and Sir Michael de Robeck at 49. FORTH BRIDGE SCHEME

Facts For Minister Of Transport

COMMITTEE'S LIST OF BENEFITS

London, July 23.

The request of Mr. Hore-Beelish, Minister of Transport, for further evidence as "economic justification" for the proposed Forth road bridge, has been met by the sub-committee of the interested local authorities by a memorandum which is now in the hands of the Minister.

On the economic aspect the memorandum sets out 21 benefits which will result from the bridge.

These are that it will:—
"Facilitate existing traffic; increase the development of traffic for business and pleasure; direct traffic to the most advantageous channels; develop the existent and latent resources of the area; relieve unemployment and save public funds; divert money raised from the taxation of vehicles to road purposes; facilitate the economic integration of the area; render economic the past expenditure on roads; enable public service vehicles to serve the public economically according to distribution of population; relieve congestion at Stirling;

"Reduce maintenance costs on other roads; save expenditure on imported petrol; shorten distances and save time, expense, and wear and tear of vehicles; reduce the reserve labour pool in certain industries; assist agriculture; facilitate community of interest essential to economic wellbeing; facilitate national administration from the centre of Government and reduce its costs; develop the scope of specialised and further education in medicine and the arts; afford to the people of Scotland a wider field for the probable use of leisure; prove economic so long as money rates are at the present low level; and link up the Great North Road."

OVER £100,000 A YEAR FROM TOLLS

The true economic justification, the report states, will be found in the toll test.

It has been computed that the bridge will be used by 200 vehicles a day at least. At 3s per journey on the average this represents £300 a day, or approximately £109,500 per annum. This figure will provide not only interest on the capital but also a substantial margin for maintenance, repairs, and renewals.

"The time is ripe for the project," the report states. "Either motor traffic should be suppressed altogether as an undesirable feature of national life, or reasonable facilities for its normal development should be provided."

As to the Kincardine bridge, it could not be anticipated that it would prove adequate to the important East Coast traffic, while the ferry principle had in recent years been abandoned in many important instances.

The result of the question to motorists in the Edinburgh area, put by Lord Provost Gurney brought out an estimate of 2013 crossings per day, and 2000 crossings per day is regarded as a conservative estimate. The national aspect of the traffic has not figured largely in the statistics given because of difficulty in obtaining detailed traffic statistics on such a scale.

tain of 1925 seniority, however, has become a rear-admiral at less than 50.

RETURN OF THE DAUNTLESS

The cruiser Dauntless, Captain Sir Lionel Sturges, is due at Portsmouth to-day from her troping voyage to China, for which she left the port on March 31. She is bringing back relieved officers and men from the gunboats of the Yangtze Flotilla and other units, and is expected to revert to the Reserve Fleet.

COMMAND OF THE CALYPSO
Commander H. T. W. Pawsey, who since January, 1934, has commanded the destroyer Woolston and the 1st Anti-Submarine Flotilla, will to-day assume command of the cruiser Calypso, in reserve at Devonport, in succession to Commander L. V. Donnie, D.S.C. Commander Pawsey was promoted in 1928 while in command of the gunboat Aphie on the Yangtze, and has since commanded the destroyers Veteran and Achilles in the Mediterranean, and also been executive officer of the minelaying cruiser Adventure.

THE THINKING MACHINE

How We Learn To Talk

BRAIN'S TELEPHONE EXCHANGE

(BY E. S. GREW.)

London, July 19.

A robot like the photo-electric cell made to operate burglar alarms or open doors, or the gyroscope controlling a plane, is an unthinking automaton. Its powers are conferred by the human thought put into its construction.

It is possible to construct machines which seem to embody a little more brainwork. The Russian physiologist, Pavlov, laid bare some of the brain's simpler responses with his dogs. When one of Pavlov's dogs was offered a chunk of meat its gastric juices began to flow and it slobbered. The invitation stirred up an automatic response. But if a dinner bell was rung, at the same time the dog's brain registered the coincidence.

After a time, the ringing of the bell was enough to make the dog's mouth water. Pavlov's dogs started what was irreverently called the science of slobbering, which was the examination of the ways in which sensations from outside stir the brain to make responses.

America has been busy in making machines to imitate these more obvious actions of the brain. One of the first was made at Yale, where an arrangement of switches, battery, glass tubes, and a small glow lamp could be shown to reproduce something like the reactions of Pavlov's dog, first to the sight of its dinner, and afterwards to the sound of the bell.

The battery was the brain, the switches the chunk of meat or the bell, the glow lamp the dog's response. It all worked well—the lamp, glowing, fading, and after a pause, lighting again, in the most natural manner.

TRIAL AND ERROR

Another thinking machine constructed at Washington reproduced by an arrangement of electro magnets the way in which rats, by a process of trial and error, learn how to take a given path among the twists and turns of a maze. All learning is experience, a process of trial and error, and the machine learns like the rat, but learns quicker.

The mere description of these machines would absorb many columns, with illustrations, and what a task it is to describe them is the amount of mechanism needed to stimulate the most elementary behaviour. A model reproducing all a rat can do would require a mechanism as large as the Houses of Parliament. One reproducing the whole behaviour of man, if it were possible to construct it, would occupy the whole of England.

Our own thinking machine is stored in the compass of the brain and its appendages of nerves. Its complexity is revealed by the things it learns and does. There is the art of walking, or of any movement. By means of perpetual alterations of position we are always building up in the brain a model of ourselves which is constantly changing.

Every new posture or movement is registered on this plastic "scheme" of our body, in the brain memory. Without it we could not know how to move any limb. But this is child's play compared with the interlinked processes, mental, physiological, and automatic, by which we learn to talk.

MOSAIC OF IMPULSES

We all learn to speak by constant practice, exactly as a lawn tennis player acquires a difficult stroke or a skater a new figure. At one stage a child has more words than ideas, and repeats them over and over again to practice them. But single words, if we accept the "delectable comas" of oaths, are meaningless. We do not think in words but in words referring to one another in a particular manner. The sentence becomes a unit, not a word heap. Its production is a mental process improved by practice and conscious effort. We speak internally or aloud not to tell others what we think, but to tell ourselves what we think. Speech is the interpretation of thought.

The thinking machine governing this aptitude is far more complicated than the last century imagined it to be. After Broca had disclosed in the brain the so-called speech centre, where a

FINANCIAL SITUATION IMPROVING

Shanghai, July 30.

The total estimated expenditure in the Greater Shanghai municipal budget for the 25th fiscal year, which is now in the making, has been tentatively fixed at $10,000,000.

The financial situation of the Municipality, it is stated, has been showing signs of improvement since Mr. Hsu Fu assumed office as Finance Commissioner early this year. Provisional administrative funds for the various municipal organs which have been in arrears are now being paid regularly.

It is further learned that no appropriate measures have been mapped out to make up the deficit of $5,000,000 incurred during the past fiscal year.—Central News.

GESTURE FROM CANADA

War Plane Relic For Germany

(Hong Kong Daily Press' Special)

Berlin, Aug. 4.

Another profoundly symbolic act for the desire in wide circles, to cancel the past, and unite in building a new future, was enacted here on Tuesday, when the President of the Canadian Olympic Committee, a Ministerial Director in the Canadian Ministry of Commerce and some members of the Staff, presented the Secretary of State for Aviation, General Milch, with fragments of the plane, in which the German War Ace, Baron von Richthofen, found his death.

The President of the Canadian Olympic Committee, in his address, said that it was the wish of Captain May, Richthofen's last opponent, that the fragments of the historic plane be handed back to Germany as a sign and token of wellwishing, friendly feelings and respect on the part of the Canadian People.

General Goering, Minister of Aviation, to whom this relic was handed over, sent Captain May in Canada a telegram of thanks, in which he reciprocates the friendly feelings expressed by the Canadian delegation and greets Captain May in comradeship.—Transocean News Service.

BELL RETURNED TO GERMANY

Kiel, Aug. 4.

The British cruiser, Neptune, has arrived here on a special mission, retrieving the bell of the German battleship Hindenburg, to the German Navy.

The Hindenburg was one of the vessels of the German Fleet scuttled at Scapa Flow.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

Mosaic of impulses was collected and directed to set speech in motion, other anatomists followed in localising in the brain other centres of bodily action. But in our own day Sir Henry Head has shown beyond a peradventure that this scheme is far too simple.

The brain centres are not conglomerations of cells where bodily functions, such as speech, are begun, but points where the progress of some mode of action can be re-litigated, turned aside, or prohibited. The brain does not localise in its convolutions any bodily function. It acts as a whole.

Through it speech is acquired not as an isolated act but as an orderly exercise of functions, conscious, subconscious, or wholly automatic, all working together, in harmony. The brain which can compass this is a thinking machine of incomprehensible complexity. We fall short of understanding it, because, to quote Sir Henry Head, the logical formulas of the intellect do not correspond exactly to physical events. The universe does not exist as an exercise for the human mind.

NEW R.A.F. RESCUE BOAT

Trial In Rough Sea

A PASSENGER'S EXCITING TRIP

Southampton, July 18.

The new R.A.F. rescue boat, similar in general design to the Navy's new torpedo motor-vessel which the King handled recently at Portsmouth, was made to show its paces in Southampton Water to-day. A 30-miles an hour wind and a short, broken sea were precisely what one might have desired in a test of the boat's sea qualities. Into, across, and with that sea, the boat was driven at its top speed of 35 knots.

The awkwardness of the sea was truly reflected by the tug from which we watched the first part of the boat's performance. The spectator kept his balance with difficulty against oscillations which the shortness of the sea made quite unpredictable, while the rescue boat came tearing across the tops of the waves, casting out what looked like two arcs of steam from its chines 5 ft. or 6 ft. below the bows, pushing out an enormous spray of water on the outer side of a sharp turn and leaving behind it a dancing wake of spray beaten up into mounds. In the movement of the boat itself there was no reflection of this turmoil except an occasional slight lift of the bows or, when its speed was reduced to slow, a slight roll.

SPEED AND STABILITY

Presently the duty of observation was exchanged for that of participation. From the yard of the British Power Boat Company at Hythe, where this and the naval boats were built, we set off down Southampton Water with Mr. H. Scott-Paine, the designer, at the wheel and R.A.F. ratings as crew. As the water became rougher the speed was raised, so that when we rounded Calshot and met the full draught of the south-westerly wind and the worst confusion of the waters, the engine dials were showing full revolutions and the boat was taking all its buffets at 40 miles an hour. The results were striking to the passenger but completely unalarming to the helmsman, who neither slackened speed nor altered course.

Sometimes the spray came across in a cloud from the windward, making the windscreen opaque and dimming the light for a few seconds, while the nose lifted a little as we had watched it lift and the short seas thumped for a moment on the flat bottom. The sensation was comparable in its unexpectedness to the "bump" that may take an aeroplane and also in the smooth reassurance of its passing. The effect was by no means that of pitching nor was any violent shock transmitted through the structure of the boat. Running across sea and wind, the hint of a roll, and presently, when we turned to get wind and sea astern, our craft slipped along on its own bow wave with scarcely a sign of disturbance.

This boat is 64 ft. long and has a draught over the propellers of only 3 ft. Its behaviour at high speed in an unpleasant sea was

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

Outstanding Mining Operations

(Through the courtesy of Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co.)

Outstanding among the newer mining operations in the Philippines is Demonstration Gold Mines, Ltd., which has a cyanide plant in the Baguio district. This plant was first started in January, 1935, and results have been so satisfactory since that time, that on June 18, 1935 it was decided to expand the plant to a daily capacity of 300 tons.

The directorate of Demonstration is headed by A. W. Ralston, who is also president of Benguet Exploration and of the Manila Machinery & Supply Company. Benguet Exploration operates a 100-ton leaching plant in the Baguio district.

Other directors of Demonstration are W. S. Price, vice-president, B. H. Berkenkotter, J. D. Highsmith, and Rafael R. Alunan. The directorate of Benguet Exploration interlocks with Demonstration to some extent, the Exploration directors being B. H. Berkenkotter, J. D. Highsmith, M. Morgan, and E. B. Ford, vice-president.

Demonstration, which was the tenth plant to go into production in the Islands, is capitalized at P1,000,000, of which all is paid up. During 1935 the company milled 54,780 tons, and produced P330,343. The ore reserves as of January 1 were 200,729 tons, valued at P5,145,364. This is positive and probable ore only, possible ore not being included.

Operations during the first five months of 1936 were outstandingly successful. Net earnings were P307,073 of which P284,547 was in net current assets. The efficiency of the mill was considerably increased, and extraction raised correspondingly.

Demonstration paid its first dividend, of 10 per cent, on June 20; this amounted to P100,000. It is believed that this dividend rate will be continued in the future, on a quarterly basis.

Underground development at Demonstration has been good, and it is reported that the ore reserves have been increased substantially since the first of the year.

K. L. Lile is general superintendent of Demonstration.

Benguet Exploration has an authorized capitalization of P1,500,000, of which P500,000 is paid up. The plant was first started in March, 1933, and has continued without interruption since that date. The ore reserves on January 1 were 49,300 tons, valued at P494,020.

Work is now being carried on to improve milling efficiency by means of increasing grinding capacity and improving general operation conditions.

W. A. Solomon is general superintendent of Benguet Exploration.

INCOME TAX IN CHINA

Chambers Petition For Postponement

Shanghai, Aug. 5.

Twenty-one Chambers of Commerce representing merchants in seven provinces and 14 municipalities and hsin districts, whose delegates on Wednesday concluded an assembly in Shanghai, have jointly submitted a petition to the Executive Yuan and Ministry of Finance asking for a postponement of the enforcement of the newly promulgated income law.

While the income tax is a lawful and good source of revenue, the petition declares, it must come after the end of all exorbitant and illegal levies which are likens in changed and camouflaged forms, such as the "Rehabilitation Tax for Clean-up of Bandits" in Kiangsi, the "Sericultural Improvement Tax" in Chekiang, the "Production and Sales Tax" in Kwangtung, the "Landing Tax" in Szechuen, the "Military Fee Tax" in Kwangsi and the "Special Consumption Tax" in Shensi, Kansu and Yunnan.

Under varied names, levies are being imposed on native goods or Chinese manufactured goods with the rates about 10 times heavier than the likens of the old days, the petition pointed out.

In conclusion, the Chambers declared that the income tax regulation should be enforced until:

1. All varied forms of likens are abolished, and

2. Arrangements are completed for the collection of levies from all Chinese and foreigners residing in the Chinese controlled areas as well as in the foreign concessions and settlements.
